

WHALE CITY

We love music, whales & cities

A summer evening at the beach. A road trip with friends.

A view from the top of a mountain.

Moments inspire the three guys of WHALE CITY.

Their pop-rock music is gin and tonic for the listeners ears, their band name inspired by the Whale City Bakery right at Highway 1 in California.

During his time in the States singer, guitarist and songwriter Andi, loved to hang out at this place with a beautiful view over the sea and sometimes he even saw whales swimming by under a blue sky.

WHALE CITY is a place full of positive energy and inspiration.

A place of freedom and emotional connections.

The german band carries the mood of departure, joy and desire with a modern, international sound into the world.

WHALE CITY is a way of life that Andi, Michael and Juri share and they love transforming it into their favorite sound.

The well known German music magazine "Schall" says: "The trio around singer and ex-professional soccer player Andreas Görlitz scores with spherical guitar sounds, pulsating bass lines, driving drums, futuristic synths and emotional lyrics.

Finest pop rock a la Coldplay!"
